BEAN PRODUCTION OUTLOOK - HAVE YOU BOOKED YET?

Frost on the morning of June 27th did some damage to seed bean crops in the Eastern section of the Twin Falls, Idaho district. Apparently only a few of our crops were hurt but we have heard rumors that some other growers were less fortunate and actually suffered severe loss of acreage.

In addition to these losses, the cool late season has been generally unfavorable for beans and government forecasts are for a heavy infestation of the beet leaf hoppers or "White Fly".

We pass this information on to you to help you form your own opinion of the outlook. We think these factors, together with the recent (May 15) B.A.E. report, showing an estimated decrease in 1950 production of 28% in bush beans as compared to 1949 crop, makes for a bullish outlook. Even the international situation seems to strengthen this outlook.

HYBRID SWEET CORN BY CORNELI WINS ALL AMERICA AWARD (HM) FOR 1951

BIG MO is a vigorous, midseason, golden yellow hybrid destined to become popular for market and shipping purposes, as well as for canning and home gardens. Tall, sturdy, suckerless stalks bear large attractive ears. The hybrid has excellent holding quality. Order now for next winter or spring delivery.

ANOTHER ALL AMERICA WINNER (HM) PRESENTED BY CORNELI FOR 1951

URBANA, a tomato developed by Prof. W. A. Huelsen of the University of Illinois, and introduced by Corneli Seed Company, matures in the season between Stokesdale and Rutgers or about 75 days. It shows resistance to Fusarium wilt, in similar degree to that of Rutgers and Marglobe. The red fruits are medium in size, smooth globe in shape and have an attractive rich scarlet red flesh. The plant is compact, bushy, very prolific.

A GOOD HYBRID TOMATO FOR YOUR TRADE

CORNELICROSS 18-21 is a TRUE, FIRST GENERATION, TOMATO HYBRID of closed-pedigree. In addition to hybrid vigor, Cornelicross 18-21 has the unique advantage of combining the desirable characteristics of large, meaty, deep scarlet, globe-shaped fruit with great productivity. This F1 hybrid seed will be available after 1950 crop, packed in one ounce tins.
